

CAREE and NYTS 2011 CONFERENCE REGISTRATION

“EASTERN EUROPE STILL MATTERS”

“EASTERN EUROPE STILL MATTERS” is the theme for the 2011 conference hosted by Christians Associated for Relationships with Eastern Europe (CAREE) and New York Theological Seminary (NYTS) Center for World Christianity at NYTS and the Micah Institute at NYTS.

The CAREE and NYTS 2011 conference “EASTERN EUROPE STILL MATTERS” will consider why interest in the region has declined, why Eastern Europe remains important, and developments there which invite attention from scholars, political leaders, those who work for civil society, and religious leaders.

Friday and Saturday March 25-26, 2011

March 25: 9:30AM to Noon; 1PM-5PM; March 26: 9:30AM to Noon.

Inter Church Center / 475 Riverside Drive, NYC, NY

The program includes a Romanian theological professor who will speak on significant anniversaries for the Romanian Orthodox Church and a German scholar on the challenges of secularism for the churches in Poland. Join us to learn why

“EASTERN EUROPE STILL MATTERS”.

There is no fee for the conference but registration is required.

For registration and lodging information please contact:
Dr. Paul Crego (Executive Secretary, CAREE) at paul.crego@comcast.net.

Sponsors: CAREE, Center for World Christianity at NYTS, Micah Institute at NYTS

CAREE is an ecumenical organization which has pursued peace, justice, and reconciliation in and for Eastern Europe for more than forty years. NYTS is a non-denominational urban center for theological education with a focus on inner-city ministry. The Center for World Christianity at NYTS supports the Seminary's mission to prepare men and women for ministry in a global context. The Micah Institute at NYTS educates religious leaders to be prophetic ministers advocating against racial, economic and environmental injustice. This conference is part of the Micah Institute Global Justice seminar program.

For more information on CAREE visit <http://www.caree.info> and for NYTS and programs visit: www.nyts.edu.